

Attention!!!

-Amended copyright and usage (update jan.2024)

This package is offered as freeware.
Commercial use and (re)distribution is not allowed.

Freeware or non-commercial (re)distribution of the package in whole or in part (meaning all files included) can only be allowed when you obtain (written) permission from the original authors.

Any new files generated from or based on these originals -in whole or in part- will fall under the same 'copyright license' as the originals and should remain 'freeware'.
And again, for (re)distribution of these files you should seek permission from the original authors.

After obtaining permission - Please, do always include with the package/derivatives the 'DNA file' (updated with your XP version no. and short description of your work/adjustments/modifications or as separate file) and all the original read-mes that correspond with the files.

Additionally, no matter where you got the files from (internet site or whatever) or which (older) version these files are, this current copyright applies.

For more information see also the included 'original read-me' and the authors' older uploads at the x-plane.org or their own site.

Yes, for your own personal use you may edit, modify or tweak the files to suit your own taste; that is: for your own use only.
Sharing with- and redistribution or uploading to public and groups is NOT allowed.

Liveries / repaints are excluded from the above; you're welcome to produce and distribute repaints.

Simple as it is.